

Board Self-Appraisal

Whatever form your governing body takes, it is important that you review, on a regular basis, how you are performing and whether or not you are being effective as a group of Trustees in managing the organisation.

There are a number of self-appraisal tools to help you to ask yourselves the right questions. By making sure this becomes an annual item on the Trustees' agenda, this self-reflection becomes a regular "habit", rather than something that is only looked at when there is a potential "problem".
