More than 75% of parents worry about the effects of Brexit on school children behaviour. They are concerned about what discrimination their children will face.

"We've had Wojciech for over five years now and we have never experienced any sort of hate crime from our neighbours, at school or anywhere else. Our neighbours are very supportive and understanding."

"As kids, we used to play Scavengers Hunt, usually in the woods with a group of scouts. The general rules would be: two groups, one is preparing a set of items which then would be hidden all over the place with hints displayed on trees and ground for the second group. The second group would have to find all the items by following the messages left by the first group."
