- Ensure Sport England's capital investment reaches organisations that have not accessed Sport England's funding before
- Create a more resilient, sustainable, less grant dependent sport sector

The funding is for projects which will create or improve opportunities to play sport and get active in local communities. Grants do not have to be used for a traditional space or traditional sport.

- Medium Scale Investments – to make more substantial changes. This might be an upgrade to an existing facility or developing a new space in the community
- Large Scale Investments – for projects which can demonstrate a considerable impact or are targeting under-represented groups. (To be eligible for funding applicants must not have received funding from Sport England previously.)

Sport England - Helping the active stay active when life changes

Aims/priorities: Almost 15 million people in England regularly get active, major changes in a person's life – like a serious injury or illness, moving house, starting a new job, having a baby or retiring – can get in the way of that active habit.

That's why Sport England are be investing up to £10 million on supporting those who are regularly active, sport's core market, to help them stay active. While focusing on the big changes people go through in their lives, the fund – Helping the Active Stay Active When Life Changes – also has a particular focus on under-represented groups.

That's because Sport England's research shows those in lower socio-economic groups, women, people with a limiting disability and people aged 55 and over are less likely to have a regular active habit and if they are active, tend to drop out more.

So Sport England want to work with, invest in and learn from partners to better understand what can be done to help active people stay active for as long as they want to, whatever happens in their lives – Sport England are looking for innovative and bold ideas.

Sport England are encouraging collaborative bids, where organisations want to work together to help support people find the next opportunity.

Who can apply? Sport England are interested in working with a range of partners, both inside and outside the sport industry, who have the ability to engage with active people at different life changes and help under-represented groups stay active. Examples of potential partners could include health professionals supporting people who have a serious injury or illness to find an activity that fits their current situation. Partners could also be colleges and universities supporting people who are starting a new phase of education, or housing associations supporting those moving house find new activities in their local area.

Grant amount: Anticipated size of bids: £50,000 - £500,000

Application process: The first step in the process is to complete an expression of interest form for determining which organisations and project ideas will be invited to submit a full application for further consideration. You do not need to have a fully worked up project at this point but you will need to be able to work up a full application if your project is invited to the second stage of the application progress.
